

“The Gift of the Magi”

I am sorry that I missed you all this past Sunday. I know you had work to hand in; we will go over it this upcoming Sunday. For class work, Mr. Cartwright asked you to read “The Gift of the Magi” and underline where you saw irony. For homework, please look at the sections you underlined and write what type of irony is present (Verbal, Situational, or Dramatic). That will be your only homework, because I would like to discuss the story in class before moving on.

If you were not in class, please read “The Gift of the Magi” out of your text books. Then, identify the types of irony used in the story by underlining contextual evidence.