

Think on the following problem:

A uniform stick of mass m is placed on the surface. The coefficient of friction between the stick and the surface is μ . What is the minimum force F you have to apply to the end of the stick in the direction perpendicular to the stick to move it?

