Please have the first DRAFT of your Scholastic Writing handed in to Google Classroom by this Friday! Remember, no class this Friday. On your time off, please fill out your information on the Scholastic Writing and Arts Awards link below found on Google Classroom. If you can't connect to the link for some odd reason, just go to the Scholastic Awards website and find where it says students, follow the instructions from there. We went through all this a couple of weeks ago and I asked if you had questions last week and you said, "no."

So, when I see you after Thanksgiving break you should be finished with your writing and all your information filled out online.
